The following hints to farmers,
are applicable to some other people, consequently valuable.
What does to use. In planting or hoeing corn use the ordinary hoes in common use. Neither India rubber hoes nor cotton hoes
would be of no account in a corn field; no more would one of those eight-hundred presses.

How to hold the plow. Don't try to hold it out at arm's length.
You can't do it.

The best time to put in the I asked an old farmer once what was the best time to put in the
He looked at his watch and replied: "This is about my hour."
The rye was immediately put in.

All seasons are the same for putting in rye.
How to keep corn. The best place to keep corn is in a good corn house, though some prefer to keep it in their system—in that juice. If they don't keep corn, they keep corn.

To make your stables warm in winter. Set fire to them.
To drain lands. Drink whisky and spend all your time at that village tavern. This will drain you of all your lands in a short time.

To make stone fence. Equal parts of whisky and cider. This is the reciprocal stone fence; that more you lay of it the more it will "lay" you.

Easy way to draw saw-logs. Draw them on a piece of paper with a crayon pencil. After a little practice you will be able to draw the largest kind of sawlogs with ease.

The Arizona Miner, commenting upon the excitement, has said: "The garrison at Ft. Goddard, win, by Indians, says: 'If the California people knew the Apache as we know him, they would never for an instant credit the report of any bold movement on his part. He is the greatest of cowards, and never fights except he has every advantage. There is not harmony sufficient in his own ranks to admit of anything like a formidable movement against us fort in the Territory. Instead of two thousand warriors (as reported) uniting under any circumstances, we have seldom, if ever, heard of a union of two hundred. Our oldest pioneers and explorers say that a combination of one hundred, or of fifty warriors, is very difficult, and that one hundred are rarely known."

THE NEW HERALD OFFICE. The new Herald office, on the corner of Broadway and Ann streets, the site of Barnum's old museum, is nearly completed. The lower story is of iron, and the remainder is of white marble. Elegance cornices span every window. In the centre of which the initials
"J. G. B." are quite prominent.
Mr. Bennett says that he is getting to be an old man, and he wants to leave the new Herald office as his tombstone. The building is to be ready on the 1st of September. It is to be completely furnished throughout, everything being new from the ten-cylinder presses down to the rules and towels. Rooms are to be reserved for editorial and re-portorial sleeping apartments,
and a corps of the latter will be continually kept on duty. On its removal the Herald will be enlarged to the size of the Ter-ranean, and its price reduced to cents per copy.

The Louisville Courier said
"Poetry and Prentice begin with the same letter, but there all similarity ends. The one is the child of beauty, while the other is the inhabitant of ugliness." But which Prentice responds to "Poetry"
and foolishness commences with the same letter. The singularity begins at the beginning, and we fear that it doesn't end at all.

The Congressional Report on Utah Affairs.

The Daily Telegraph, of this city, devotes two leading articles to the report, and the evidence upon which it is based, but at the same time does not, and does not, publish the testimony of Joseph Smith, Jr. and others, as reported by the Committee on Territories. It contains many truths; which it is not advisable to circulate; hence they fall back upon their old position, and with additional vehemence raise the stereotyped cry of "persecution," "peaceable community," etc., etc.

We must confess that we see very little ground for charging the Committee with persecution in this matter. It was well known at an early date last winter that it would make an investigation of affairs in Utah during the late session of Congress, and the Telegraph itself informed the public that they would take it upon themselves to help the Committee in its elucidation of the Polygamy question. Milton and all subsequent authorities were brought to bear on the vexed subject, while the Deseret News helped in the work by publishing a series of articles, in which, as they state in yesterday's issue, the "principle" was defended "on Scriptural, reasonable, moral, social, physiological and constitutional grounds." Nor did the work stop here; the senior editor of the Telegraph and a large delegation were sent east and remained in Washington during the greater part of the time occupied by the Committee in investigating the condition of this Territory. Why did they not appear at the investigation? Certainly they could have done so had they seen fit, as we are informed that at least one witness was "introduced at the request of Mr. Hooper," the Mormon delegate in Congress from this Territory, but when put under oath he was forced to admit "the necessity of maintaining United States troops in the Territory in order to secure protection and safety to persons and property." Was it the presence of Messrs. Ashley, Coffey and others—who had, by actual observation, made themselves conversant with the working of affairs in Utah—that so abashed the Polygamous delegation in Washington that they dare not appear on the witness stand in defence of their favorite doctrine? This or some other reason of their own must have been the only cause.

It is claimed that "the laws of the United States are openly and defiantly violated throughout the Territory," and that "the Presidency teaches hostility to the government of the United States." Who that has lived in Utah during the last ten years can deny that the laws of the United States have been openly defied and almost every week from every pulpit filled by followers of Brigham Young? Who was it that in September, 1857, murdered 120 men, women and children at Mountain Meadows? And who was it that two years later, almost by force of arms, resisted Judge Cradlebaugh when he attempted to investigate the affair, and threatened his life if he ever returned to the Territory? Who was it that stood up in the Tabernacle last April and asserted that he would shoot a United States Judge who married any of a certain class of women under the laws of the United States declare unmarried? Who was it that only a week ago last Sunday in the same place swore that he would send any man to hell who under the laws of the United States pre-empted certain vacant lands? Who are those that have repeatedly asserted that if the Government attempted to enforce certain laws in this Territory the issue would be wiped out in blood? Or who, if the laws of the United States were enforced in this Territory, would be outside of the penitentiary walls? Not one in ten of the Mormon Church leaders of Utah. Yet they have the unblushing effrontery to assert through their organ that Utah "is now and always has been from the commencement the most peaceable and orderly and law-abiding of all the Western Territories and States, and the laws have been better executed and crime has been more generally punished within her boundaries than in any other."

We do not desire that the masses of the people of Utah should be punished. Whatever crimes they have committed are traceable to the doctrines inculcated by those whom, under a religious fanaticism, they recognize as their leaders, and it is these same leaders who have preached and caused this open and defiant violation of the laws of the United States, and who are to-day ruling this Territory that we desire to see stripped of their power and punished as their crimes deserve.

Justice.—When the Civil Appropriation bill was passed by the Senate an amendment was adopted to pay $250 to each of the men of the First Michigan Cavalry who were mustered out of the service in Utah and returned home at their own expense.

We also learn that the order dishonoring Captain C. B. Birney and other officers of the above regiment has been revoked and an honorable discharge given them.

A TRIP TO PAHRANAGAT.

NO. II.

Lawrence, Pahranagat Mines, July 18th, 1886.

Editor Vedette.—On the morning of the 15th of July, our party, consisting of myself, Bill, and your correspondent, left Egan Canon en route for the Pahranagat Mines.

With a barometer for the north and a "pleasant journey to you" of our fair entertainers sounding sweetly in our ears, and echoing along down the cañon, we were off on our journey.

The morning was beautiful, and all nature wore her loveliest smiles. Old Mother earth seemed to smile from her mountains and valleys, from her deep ravines and seasons strength, bidding us rejoice and be glad on this ever glorious Fourth.

Our route was down the west side of Steptoe Valley. The road is a good natural one, but a better and eight miles shorter could be made by bridging the cañon and going along the east side.

Steptoe Valley is about one hundred miles long by fifteen wide. The Egan Mountains extend along its western line and the Schell Creek range along its eastern. Its general direction is north and south, and this is so of all the valleys we traveled through.

I send you a schedule of the camps made by us, which may be of use to some wayfaring traveler. They were measured by an odometer, and I think are nearly correct. From Egan Canon to Rabbit Creek, 25 miles; from Rabbit Creek to Lawrence Springs, 18 miles. Here there are a number of large springs flowing out from the foot of the bench land, which slopes gradually from the mountains and is covered with luxuriant bunch grass. The foot hills of the mountains are grown up with cedar, and the cañons with pine and mahogany. These springs flow to the center of the valley where they are joined by a large stream coming out from the Schell Creek Mountains, known as Duck Creek, thence the stream flows north to its "sink." There is a large tract of good hay land along this stream and around the springs. From Lawrence Springs to Murry's Creek, 21 miles. When about five miles from Murry's Creek we came out into the old "Sierran trail," and off to the right the trail ran through a deep gorge in the mountains known as Hercules' Lute. The "Lute" is narrow with just sufficient room for one wagon. The walls rise perpendicular about four hundred feet, at its western entrance there is a small stream of water. At the head of Murry's Creek is located the Hercules Mining District. The owners of "feet" there claim great richness for them—and have them in the New York market. Mining Creek is a beautiful stream, about four feet wide and three deep, plenty of trout and flowing swiftly to its "sink," a few miles farther north. This district has more natural advantages than any I have seen, and should its mines prove valuable, a more certain wealth will be found in its luxuriant soil. From Murry's Creek the road leads to Steptoe Creek, distance about four miles. This spring, however, is a clear and sparkling one, and the stream clear and pure. It is claimed that "the laws of the United States are openly and defiantly violated throughout the Territory," and that "the Presidency teaches hostility to the government of the United States." Who that has lived in Utah during the last ten years can deny that the laws of the United States have been openly defied and almost every week from every pulpit filled by followers of Brigham Young? Who was it that in September, 1857, murdered 120 men, women and children at Mountain Meadows? And who was it that two years later, almost by force of arms, resisted Judge Cradlebaugh when he attempted to investigate the affair, and threatened his life if he ever returned to the Territory? Who was it that stood up in the Tabernacle last April and asserted that he would shoot a United States Judge who married any of a certain class of women under the laws of the United States declare unmarried? Who was it that only a week ago last Sunday in the same place swore that he would send any man to hell who under the laws of the United States pre-empted certain vacant lands? Who are those that have repeatedly asserted that if the Government attempted to enforce certain laws in this Territory the issue would be wiped out in blood? Or who, if the laws of the United States were enforced in this Territory, would be outside of the penitentiary walls? Not one in ten of the Mormon Church leaders of Utah. Yet they have the unblushing effrontery to assert through their organ that Utah "is now and always has been from the commencement the most peaceable and orderly and law-abiding of all the Western Territories and States, and the laws have been better executed and crime has been more generally punished within her boundaries than in any other."

Our Indian boy, Bill, like all Indians, eats all food set before him. Getting into this camp early, I determined to experiment and try and cook as much as he could eat. Putting before him sufficient food for four hungry men, I told him to "eat it," giving a grant of satisfaction as his "inner man" would for once be completely harmonized with all outward annoyances, he went to work, and in a very short space of time the last biscuit and the last slice of bacon disappeared before our astonished gaze. Quinn said he was a splendid Indian to look after stock, and sending him out to the cedars, where there was good bunch grass, we told him to bring the stock in at daylight, as we had a long drive without water. The Captain, going up there in the morning found "Bill" sound asleep and the horses tied up short to a cedar tree looking tired and hungry. Moral, don't feed an Indian all he can eat, if you want him to work. From Quinn Creek to Cave Creek, 27 miles. Leaving our camp we drove to the divide between Steptoe and Cave valleys, a distance of 16 miles, and "turned out" on good bunch grass. This is the rim of the Great Basin, the waters running north in Steptoe and south in Cave Valley, and, also, running south in all the others we afterwards traveled through. On this divide we had an "Indian scare." One of our travelers, who ate in the mess and always constitutionally tired when we made camp, would invariably seek the shady part of the stage and soon be fast asleep. Q., who is somewhat of a wit, went out in the sage-brush—dressed in black and yelled, "Indians," "Indians." We heard a hard thump against the under side of the stage and finally a lump of humanity, rolling out from the wheels, yelling, "where's my gun," "where's my gun." After some trouble he was fully armed and equipped, and rushed bravely out to the support of Q., calling, "where are they?" where are they? Q. said he was shooting at a rabbit and the dead thing got away. Our friend came back looking very demurely at the Judge, and said we would be shot some time in vain. From the divide the road gradually descended to Cave Valley, where there is a large amount of grass and good water.

Cave Valley takes its name from the celebrated cave in it. The cave has never been fully explored, and marvelous stories are told by the Indians about its extent. The story is that here a treasure and best-looking "spirits" are kept from being tampered with by John's army. The entrance to the cave is in a small mound in the center of the city.

The Omaha Scouts are to receive the same bounty as white soldiers. The U. P. R. Co. is erecting extensive machine shops at Omaha. On the 26th ult. assistant jailer G. B. Armstrong killed one and wounded another prisoner who were attempting an escape from the Leavenworth jail. The soldiers who were sent out from Ft. Sully to build another fort further up the river were driven back by Indians. Omaha has voted to give $40,000 towards completing the Northwestern Railroad to that city.

valley, and runs back to the White Mountain range, the Indians say to daylight in Tophet. These Indians are called the Cave Indians, and Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like them. They are a poor, shaggy looking lot, the bones almost poking through their skin. They have not been in contact with the white man often. In one instance they withstood a great temptation than the one Mother Eve yielded to, if we believe the old mythological story of the Devil and a very poor apple. A party of miners, being too heavily loaded, left a sack of flour with these Indians to keep until they returned, and coming back in a week or so they found the flour safely stored for and not a crumb of it gone, while the Indians were actually dying of starvation. This is a rare thing from reliable authority, and it is wiser than any white man I know.

Leaving camp at Cave Valley, the route goes south about four miles, then turns to the southwest and goes through a pass to Sierra Valley. At a distance from Cave Valley of 11 miles, about two-thirds through the pass, is a good spring and grass. Back to the south of it rise two high buttes, known as Lawrence Peaks. From this spring to Butterfield's Springs the distance is 113 miles. These springs are large and numerous, rising at the east side of Sierra Valley and running to the center. In the center of the valley, a small, short range of mountains rises up, and at its northern end a large warm spring flows forth. The stream where it runs away is fifty feet wide and two deep. It joins the large stream from Butterfield's Springs, and they sink a short distance south. At this sink the soil is similar to that along Steptoe Creek and thousands of acres of good hay land. From here to the Pahranagat Mines it is 48 miles. The road from Egan Canon to this sink is as good a natural one as I ever traveled over—plenty of grass, water and wood. From here to the Mines the road is good until you reach the Pahranagat Mountains, but not much grass. Leaving Sierra Sink in the evening, we filled our kegs with water and went on to the divide between this valley and Coal Valley, which is bordered on the west side by what are known as the Paddy Peaks—named after an Irishman, who it is said waxed fat by disposing of Indian goods to constructive Indians, (alias white men) while poor "Lo" had to go starving and consequently steal. We found good grass on the divide. At a distance of about ten miles off to the right and west two large buttes can be seen, some five miles from the road. In the south one, and about its center, near the top of the mountain and directly under a perpendicular strata of quartz, is a cave, which has water in it. The cave can be seen from the road with a glass, and looks similar to a black hole under the strata. It is fifty feet high and one hundred feet deep. This mountain has a mound of rock on its top which at a distance resembles a cup. The spring in the cave is known as Brown's Spring.

Leaving our dry camp we went on to Indian Spring, a distance from Sierra Sink of 24 miles. This spring is a deep hole in the ground, and cannot be seen unless close to it—is in a small ravine running out of the mountain and north of three rough, jagged points of rock there to Steptoe's Spring is 24 miles. This spring is in the same range of mountains, in the main range, one-third of the way up, and under a large strata of rock. There are two or three buttes between it and the road. From Steptoe's Spring to Lawrence, Silver Canon, 2 miles. A petition was generally signed by the miners to have the Post-office at Silver Canon, and also to have the town named Lawrence. They object to their mail going through the Mormon settlements, and say that at the small Post-offices the mail is tampered with. The handling of it—consequently they think a great many letters and papers are lost.

Altogether we had a very pleasant trip—no road to make—and this route is the most central and quickest communication with the east and west. The Judge makes good coffee. I am chief cook, and he says he will marry for "time and eternity" all the fair Saints in Utah who can make better bread than I. He will soon be in Salt Lake City, and the sisters who are ambitious to enter the list can find him at No. Salt Lake House.

The distance from Egan Canon to Lawrence, Pahranagat Mines, is one hundred and seventy-five miles. I have been examining these mines thoroughly, and in my next will give you a description of them. MINER.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

(SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION-VEDETTE.)

New Orleans, Aug. 10. R. King Butler, and other Conventionists, have made affidavits before Acting United States Commissioner Hunt, charging Mayor Monroe and Sheriff Hays with being principals or accessories to the homicides of the 30th ult. The military authorities to-day informed Mayor Monroe that he must make no more appointments or perform any other official acts without their approval.

New York, Aug. 10. Reports from all quarters, yesterday, indicated a general abatement of cholera. Eleven new cases and nine deaths were reported in the city. There had been no admissions of cholera patients in the hospitals on Blackwell's and Randall's Islands. In Brooklyn a marked decrease was also noticed, there being but thirteen cases and two deaths there.

Chicago, Aug. 10. The President and Secretary Seward have definitely promised to attend the Douglas memorial ceremonies at Chicago early in September, when they will make a visit also to New York and prominent western cities.

From the River.

The Omaha Scouts are to receive the same bounty as white soldiers. The U. P. R. Co. is erecting extensive machine shops at Omaha. On the 26th ult. assistant jailer G. B. Armstrong killed one and wounded another prisoner who were attempting an escape from the Leavenworth jail. The soldiers who were sent out from Ft. Sully to build another fort further up the river were driven back by Indians. Omaha has voted to give $40,000 towards completing the Northwestern Railroad to that city.

THE INDIAN WAR.—The fall has fairly opened—the seed sown by Doolittle & Co. is springing up to a luxuriant harvest, and during the next few months we may expect a repetition of those bloody scenes that have for so long a time been regularly enacted under the "sugar plum" policy of the Government. Night before last official dispatches passed over the wires giving an account of the murder of Lieut. Daniels and 26 men of the 18th U. S. Infantry, by Indians, near Ft. Reno on Powder River, Dakota Territory. This was done between the 27th of July and the 10th of August, and what further damage was done we have not learned; but we have authority for contradicting the report—that any of the Forts on Powder River had been captured.

In the Ft. Kearney Herald, of August 3d, we find the following item of news, of which the above dispatch is a confirmation:

Ft. Laramie, August 1. Indian war has commenced again. Several white men have been killed near Fort Reno. The Indians are stealing and driving off large numbers of cattle.

PASSED Fort Kearney, going west, Aug. 1.—Conductor R. H. Carter, 20 wagons, 35 men, 30 revolvers, 25 guns, bound for Fort Bridger.

Conductor M. Story, 20 wagons, 31 men, 25 revolvers, 20 guns; bound for Virginia City.—Ft. Kearney Herald.

Good Prices.—The New York Herald paid $2,200 for the special dispatch from Europe that contained the late speech of the King of Prussia.

The Daily Union-Expositor

Local and Miscellaneous.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The Expositor is the largest daily newspaper in Utah, its circulation in every mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho. (As witness the telegraphic dispatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers.) makes it the best advertising medium for advertising in these two central territories.

O. J. GOLDBECK, traveling solicitor, Expositor subscriptions and advertisements, through the Pacific States and Territories.

See notice in another place of disposition of the firm of Clark, Rogers & Co.

ELGUTTER appears to-day in a new coat, setting forth the attractions of his establishment.

Don't fail to read the interesting communication, in another column, from Pahrangat.

See advertisement of Quartermaster's Sale of Army Wagons.

POST OFFICE REMOVED.—Read advertisement.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement of the Washington Restaurant. Mr. Buckingham has the reputation of being A. No. 1, in his line of business.

The Tabernacle Tartars amused themselves yesterday p. m. by their usual slang against honorable men, who will survive such vituperations.

RESE RIVER ADVT'S.—The attention of city readers, and that of our numerous subscribers in Rush Valley, Ruby Valley, Egan Cañon, Pahrangat and along the routes westward, is directed to the new advertisements of leading houses in Austin, Nevada, as published in this day's issue. A big patronage is solicited for them. The "International" is the first class place to put up at, and the hosts are "princely." Prof. Murphy is a leading assayer, scientific and reliable. Send him Pahrangat patronage. Mess. Cook Brothers have a mammoth stock and sell it very reasonably, on personal application or by orders. McHardy & Hallock have the best facilities for buying, selling, or receiving on sale, all the Utah produce, eggs, &c., that you can ship to Austin. Their stock of provisions, groceries, &c., is complete and can be bought at christian prices.

THE PLAINS.—The Junction Union, on the subject of the "friendless," says: "The Indians have again ordered the settlers of Limestone Creek and the upper settlements of the Solomon have been compelled to fall back also. A party were out Buffalo hunting, and when at work in the herd a party of Indians rode up and notified them to leave immediately, and that they must not be seen in the neighborhood the next evening. The Indians endeavored to run off the white men's mules, but did not succeed. They were said to be Cheyennes, and a party of two or three hundred were within a short distance. This is doubtless one result of the failure of the Laramie treaty. We also learn that the Cheyennes are moving north from the Arkansas to the Smoky Hill. It is needless to smooth matters over any longer. Those Indians must be whipped and driven back. Sentimental folks may deem it wrong, but we believe it is just as certainly one of the Almighty's plans that that race should be killed off, as that they were created in the first place. Our Governor should see to it that some practical and effective measures are taken to protect the immense immigration that is pouring out west of us. Steps taken in time will benefit that section far more than the change of railroad routes."

From California.—[From the Sacramento Union.]

San Francisco, August 5.

The deaths in San Francisco last week were forty-two.

General Halleck orders the breaking up and discontinuance of Fort Bellingham, Fort Chehalis, Fort Yumbill, Fort Hawkins, Fort Cascades, Fort Dalles, Siletz Black House and Fort Oxford, and the removal of all public stores from Fort Walla Walla. Fort Vancouver and Boise will be retained at present as supply depots. All troops from forts discontinued are ordered into the field against the Indians. Hereafter the term "Fort" will be applied only to places in some manner fortified. The post recently established at Whitehorse creek will be officially known as Camp C. F. Smith, and that at Christmas Lake as Camp Warner. The posts now called Fort Bidwell and Fort Ruby will hereafter be officially known as Camp Bidwell and Camp Ruby. He condemns the practice of expending large sums for barracks, houses, and officers' quarters at temporary posts, which he observed while on his northern tour, and directs that hereafter no buildings, except such as may be constructed by the soldiers themselves, will be erected at any military post without special authority, and any money so expended without authority will be charged to the officer making or ordering the expenditure.

A young whale, fourteen feet in length, was stranded near Potrero Point, in the bay, yesterday, and captured by a party of boatmen.

Contrary to expectation, the Democrats had a harmonious Convention last night, nominating P. J. White, ex-Sheriff of Sierra county, for Chief of Police; General H. A. Cobb, for Tax Collector; Gordon B. Wright, City Attorney; M. C. Smith, Public Administrator; Washington Bartlett, Auditor, and Lander Winderlinger Superintendent of Streets. Frank McCoppin was renominated for Supervisor of the Eleventh District.

The Liberals assailed the third line of defense at Acapulco on the 33d. The Imperialists claim to have repulsed the assault and killed the Liberal officer in command.

From Idaho.

We got the following items from the Statesman of July 25th and 26th: W. J. McConnell, Deputy U. S. Marshal, has gone to the States to see his friends. He has been a worthy and vigilant officer. The Democratic County Convention (Assembly) met on the 25th ult. and nominated the following ticket: For Assemblyman, John Conrad, G. W. Paul and A. W. Flournoy; Probate Judge, John L. Kline; County Commissioners, R. L. Gillespie and W. F. Spangler; School Superintendent, Thos. Graham; Public Administrator, R. H. Lindsey. Mr. D. B. Sackett, Inspector General at U. S. A., passed through here on his way to Fort Vancouver day before yesterday. A correspondent says a new mining camp has been discovered four miles from Mormon Basin, that will no doubt prove to be very rich. A Mr. Glover took out one piece of solid gold weighing 40 10-16 ounces, $640. The Volunteer Company that went out from Powder River Valley and Auburna, two weeks since, have returned without accomplishing anything.

From Montana.

Our Montana exchanges have a hard story, to tell of a minister who keeps a Ranch at Tobacco Plains, on the Pend d'Oreille river. They claim that he murdered an Irishman and cooked his dead body and served it up to travelers. The settlers strung him up on short notice. Mrs. Julia Dean made her first appearance in Helena on the 30th ult. According to the Republican her reception was not very flattering. Fanny Morgan Phelps is expected in Helena.

A LARGE whale visited Portland harbor a few days since, and swam past all the wharves and under both railroad bridges. He was peppered with rifle balls, and a bomb lance was fired through his back, and he was harpooned, but after all succeeded in escaping, after desperate efforts, being much more fortunate than the Rebel pirates were two or three years ago.

Arrivals and Departures.

gem of poetry, to put? Witness the following prostitution of Mr. Longfellow's "Ship of State," for which the Free Press rightly named—is responsible:

Sail on, O ship of state, thy keel
Is on the water, and thy mast
Is in the clouds, and thy sails are set
To catch the wind of heaven's breath,
And thou art sailing on thy way,
To bring the world to a new day.

But not a word of thee is said
In any of the papers of the land,
Nor in the schools, nor in the halls,
Nor in the hearts of our young men,
Nor in the hearts of our young women,
Nor in the hearts of our young men,
Nor in the hearts of our young women.

A Lady in Charleston has just had three babies at a birth. That lady is childish.—Louisville Journal.

The population of St. Louis, according to the census recently taken in that city, is 203,327.

Men who fight duels have two seconds to live after they are dead.

A Lover wrote to a lady who rejected him, saying that he intended to retire "to some secluded spot, and breathe away his life in sighs." To which the lady replied, inquiring whether they were to be medium or large size.
